AUSSIES ABROAD WRAP

22.9.03
Qantas Socceroo midfielder Marco Bresciano continues to go from strength to strength with his Italian club Parma, after notching two goals including an 89th minute winner. Fellow Australian team member Lucas Neill also put a week of controversy behind him to grab a goal in Blackburn Rovers 2-1 win against Portsmouth.

CONGRATULATIONS PERTH GLORY

2002 / 2003 NSL CHAMPIONS

The 2003/04 NSL Season Guide, the official season guide for the 28th season of the National Soccer League (NSL), expands on the comprehensive national league coverage provided in the 2002/03 Guide by presenting overviews of Australia's national teams, plus a historical perspective on the development on the game in Australia.

The Season Guide is packed with information, history and statistics covering Australia's men's and women's national teams, futsal and the NSL. Originally prepared purely as a media guide, the Season Guide now provides an important insight into soccer in Australia for a much wider audience as the game faces many challenges in the contemporary sporting landscape – domestically and internationally.

The INTRODUCTION presents contact and staff details for Soccer Australia and the Professional Footballers' Association and a directory of the national and international footballing families. A list of the official 2003/04 NSL season media partners also appears here, as well as a condensed laws of the game.

The SOCCER IN AUSTRALIA section provides an overview of soccer in Australia – its development over time in regards to the men's national teams, the women's game, and futsal.

The NSL REVIEW is a concise summary of the 2002/03 NSL season, with details of every match played, all tables, season records, and a full summary of the National Youth League.

The NSL CLUBS section provides a convenient eight page summary for each of the twelve established 2003/04 season clubs: contact details, a 2002/03 season review, club-specific fixtures, head to head information, the squad, captain and coach profiles, records and a season-by-season record for the club in the NSL to date. This section also contains an introduction to new 2003/04 season team Adelaide United, a team which effectively replaces the spot left vacant by Adelaide City in September 2003.

NSL RECORDS presents a 21 page summary of NSL highs and lows to date, encompassing: club records, scores analysis, game records, player records (covering appearance, disciplinary, goalscoring and goalkeeping records), coach records, venues, crowds and finals.

NSL HISTORY includes a fascinating story on the establishment of the national league, a comprehensive statistical history of the league, plus National Cup and National Youth League histories.

The Guide concludes with the all-important NSL 2003/04 SEASON regular season draw, an outline of the top six finals system and a list of match officials.

On behalf of the Board, management and staff of Soccer Australia, together with the member clubs of the National Soccer League, welcome to the 2003/04 season of Australia's oldest national football competition.

Last season culminated in a thrilling finale as Perth Glory secured a long-awaited national championship in front of another massive crowd at Perth's Subiaco Oval as well as a live nationwide TV audience. I'm sure no one would begrudge Perth's success following their achievements on and off the field over the last few years. No doubt all clubs will be looking to knock the Glory off their perch in what is shaping up as one of the most keenly fought championship races in recent years.

The off-season has seen us farewell one of the foundation clubs of the National Soccer League in Adelaide City. The Force certainly made a significant contribution to the NSL over the past 27 seasons reaching the finals on a regular basis and winning the championship on three occasions. However early signs for the fledgling Adelaide United are most promising and I would like to offer the club a warm welcome as the newest member of the competition.

The NSL continues to produce a large number of quality players as evidenced by the fact that most members of the Qantas Socceroo team that famously defeated England earlier in the year are products of the NSL. The continued improvement and advancement of Australia's national soccer competition are priorities for myself and the new board of Soccer Australia. With the unified support of all within the game these are challenges that I have no doubt we will confidently meet.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge our key sponsors and corporate partners, including Qantas, Channel 7, Lotto and Mitre and thank them for their valuable support.

Finally to the clubs, players, media representatives, and most of all the supporters, we look forward to your continued support and wish you all the very best for the 2003/04 National Soccer League season.

Frank Lowy
Chairman
Soccer Australia

It is a great pleasure that I welcome you to the 2003/04 National Soccer League season on behalf of the 13 member clubs of the NSL Commission.

This season will revert to the traditional and popular finals series with six teams battling it out over five weeks for the right to be crowned Australia's champion soccer team. The race for the top six will be keenly contested with this season looking to be one of the most even of recent years.

Last season we saw much excitement and intrigue with Perth Glory's memorable championship win, Northern Spirit's against the odds finals berth, the relentless goalscoring exploits of Damian Mori, Alex Tobin's remarkable achievement of 500 NSL appearances, not to mention a finals series widely acclaimed for its quality, being just a few of the highlights.

A warm welcome to Adelaide United who based on the enthusiasm shown in the early days of the club could again make Adelaide one of the hubs of Australian soccer. It would be inappropriate not to thank Adelaide City for the enormous contribution they have made since the league's inception in 1977.

I am sure that the determination and spirit of the clubs will help us continue to work together towards the shared goal of a vibrant and flourishing National Soccer League.

With your continued support I am optimistic that in the foreseeable future Soccer Australia Chairman Frank Lowy and his Board, in conjunction with the NSL, will design a blueprint to a new and re-invigorated premier domestic competition, a national competition that will have a bright future and one to which Australia's burgeoning junior participants can aspire.

Finally I would like to thank all who will be involved this season in contributing to our great game. To the players, coaches, administrators, match officials, supporters and many hundreds of volunteers I wish to extend my personal gratitude and wish you all the best for the coming season.

Remo Nogarotto
Chairman
NSL Commission

PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALLERS' ASSOCIATION

PLAYER COMMITMENT IS THE KEY

by Alex Tobin, President of the Australian Professional Footballers' Association

The PFA is committed to a better future for Australian soccer. It is this commitment which has driven players to invest in providing a vision for the game.

This vision has been realised in the form of the Australian Premier League model, which was launched in April 2003 in a document titled "For the Fans".

Further validation of player commitment to Australian Soccer is clearly evident by way of the example set by our Socceroos. Again the commitment of the players to the Australian game is something to be proud of and cannot be overstated.

So too within the NSL it is this type of commitment, which enables players to give their best and focus on, continuing to achieve for themselves and their team.

And it is the same "competitive" commitment of players that shall ensure the NSL Competition of 2003/2004 is a success.

At the heart of the interests of the game are the players and within the hearts of the players is their commitment.

Alex Tobin has been PFA President since 1998. He is both the National Soccer League and Australia "A" internationals games record holder.

Law 1 - field of play

NSL fields must be between 64m and 75m in width and between 100m and 110 m in length.

Law 2 - ball

The official game ball of the NSL will have a circumference of 68–70cm, a weight of 410–450g and pressure equal to 0.6–1.1 atmosphere at sea level.

Law 3 - number of players

Each team is to have a maximum 11 players, including one goalkeeper. In the NSL a maximum of three substitutes is allowed to be fielded, with up to four substitutes – which includes one goalkeeper – allowed on the bench.

Law 4 - players' equipment

Players must not wear anything that is dangerous to either himself or other players. Players' uniforms are to consist of a jersey, shorts, socks, shinguards and boots. Goalkeepers must wear colours that distinguish themselves from the other players on the field and match officials.

Law 5 - referee

The referee has the authority to enforce the Laws of the Game for the match he is in control of. The referee acts as timekeeper and keeps a record of the match. The referee works in conjunction with his assistant referees and the fourth official to ensure that the game is played in accordance with the laws of the game. The referee's decision is final.

Law 6 - assistant referee

Two assistant referees are appointed to assist the referee and indicate when the ball goes out of play, which team is entitled to a throw-in, goal-kick or corner kick, off-sides and when substitutes are requested to be fielded. Assistant referees are also required to alert the referee to misconduct.

Law 7 - duration of the match

The match goes for two equal periods of 45 minutes. Allowance is to be made for time lost through injury, substitutions, time wasting, setting up walls, goal celebrations, cautions, send-offs or any other cause at the referee's discretion. Half time is restricted to a maximum of 15 minutes.

Law 8 - start and restart of play

A toss of a coin decides which team will kick-off. Each team must stay in their own half and the defending players must be at least 9.15m from the ball at kick-off. After a goal is scored play is restarted with a kick-off. The second half of the match is started by the team that did not kick-off in the first half.

Law 9 - ball in and out of play

The ball is out of play when the whole of the ball has crossed the goal line or touch line, or when play has been stopped by the referee. At all other times the ball is in play.

Law 10 - method of scoring

A goal is scored when the whole of the ball crosses the whole of the goal line, between the posts and under the cross bar, provided that no infringement has occurred prior to the ball going into the goal.

Law 11 - offside

A player is in an offside position if he is nearer to his opponent's goal line than both the ball and the second last opponent. He can not be in an offside position if he is in his own half, is level with the second last opponent, or is level with the last two opponents. A player in an offside position is only penalised if the ball touches or is played by one of his team and he is interfering with play, interfering with an opponent or gaining an advantage by being in that position. The critical issue is whether or not the player in the offside position gains a significant advantage from being in that position. There is no offside if a player receives a ball directly from a goalkick, throw-in or corner kick.

Law 12 - fouls and misconduct

Direct free kick: Awarded if a player commits any of the following offences in a manner that is deemed to be careless, reckless or using excessive force: kicks or attempts to kick an opponent; trips or attempts to trip an opponent; jumps at an opponent; charges an opponent; strikes or attempts to strike an opponent; or pushes an opponent. A direct free kick is also awarded when a player: touches the opponent before touching the ball during a tackle; holds an opponent; spits at any other person; or deliberately commits a handball.

Penalty kick: Awarded if any of the above offences are committed by a player inside his own penalty area when the ball is in play.

Indirect free kick: Awarded if a goalkeeper: takes more than six seconds while controlling the ball before releasing it; touches the ball again with his hands after it has been released from his possession without touching another player; or touches the ball with his hands after directly receiving it from a throw-in taken by a team-mate. An indirect free kick is also awarded if a player: plays in a dangerous manner; impedes the progress of an opponent; prevents the goalkeeper from releasing the ball from his hands; or commits any other offence not previously mentioned in Law 12 where play is stopped to caution/dismiss a player.

Cautionable offences: A yellow card is issued if a player: commits unsporting behaviour; shows dissent by word or action; persistently infringes the laws of the game; delays the restart of play; fails to respect the required distance when play is restarted with a corner or free kick; enters or re-enters the field of play without the referee's permission; or deliberately leaves the field of play without the referee's permission. Most cautions are administered for unsporting behaviour.

Send-off offences: A red card is issued if a player: is guilty of foul or serious play; is guilty of violent conduct; spits at any other person; denies the opposing team a goal or obvious goal-scoring opportunity by deliberately handling the ball; denies an obvious goal-scoring opportunity by an offence punishable by a free-kick or a penalty kick; uses offensive, insulting, or abusing language and/or gestures; or receives a second caution in the same match.

Law 13 - free kicks

There are two types of free kicks: direct and indirect. A direct free kick can be kicked directly into goal; an indirect free kick can only result in a goal if the ball touches another player before it enters the goal. For all free-kicks the players from the opposing team must be at least 9.15m from the ball.

Law 14 - penalty kick

A penalty kick is awarded against a team that commits a direct free-kick offence inside their own penalty area. All players, except the penalty taker and the goalkeeper, must be at least 9.15m away from the penalty mark and outside of the penalty area. Once the ball is kicked the goalkeeper may move along the goal line but not in front of it.

Law 15 - throw-in

A throw-in is awarded when the whole of the ball passes over the whole of the touchline. The throw-in is taken from the point where the ball crossed the line. The thrower must face the field of play, have part of his foot either on or outside the touchline, use both hands and throw the ball over his head. A goal can not be scored directly from a throw-in.

Law 16 - goal kick

A goal kick is awarded when the whole of the ball, having last been touched by the attacking team, passes over the goal line and not within the goalmouth. The ball is placed at any point of the goal area and kicked by a player in the defending team.

Law 17 - corner kick

A corner kick is awarded when the whole of the ball, having last been touched by the defending team, passes over the goal line and not within the goalmouth. The ball is placed on the corner arc and kicked by a player in the attacking team.

Soccer in Australia

OVERVIEW

Australian soccer has its roots in the early colonial days, with the first known match played between Wanderers and King's School at the Parramatta Common in Sydney. The match, played on Saturday 14th August 1880 in front of almost 1000 spectators, ended in a 5-0 victory to the Wanderers.

The first international did not take place for another 42 years, during which time Australia had progressed to become a Federation. Australia's inaugural international match, a friendly played in 1922, was against trans-Tasman rivals New Zealand – Australia going down 1-3 at Carisbrooke Park, Dunedin.

Since then, and especially over the past 40 years, the sport of soccer has grown extensively in this country, cumulating with participation levels, especially for juniors, at an all-time high for any football code.

Currently there are well over 600,000 players registered with Soccer Australia affiliated federations, incorporating junior, amateur, school, futsal (indoor), church and contract players.

In August 2003, Roy Morgan Research released the findings of its latest sports participation survey which revealed that soccer had 1,218,000 participants in March 2003. This figure, which includes registered and non-registered participants, means that soccer has taken over as the number one played team sport in Australia. Roy Morgan's findings indicate that the number of soccer participants is now ahead of cricket (1,067,000) and basketball (892,000).

According to Morgan, soccer's participants increased dramatically from 831,000 in March 2000, an increase of 47 per cent in three years. The findings include a figure of 431,000 participants aged 14 to 17 – equating to 41 per cent of the total population of that age group.

At the elite end of the scale, Australia regularly competes for a berth in the world's two largest sporting events – the FIFA World Cup and the Olympic Games. Men's and women's soccer at Sydney 2000 took the profile of the sport to greater heights.

The code also has one of the most respected talent identification systems and youth development programs of any sport in Australia, cumulating with the Australian Institute of Sport in Canberra. The Institute continually produces champions, among whom Frank Farina, Mark Viduka and Craig Moore can be counted.

Since the early 1900s, the country's elite soccer clubs competed in the various state leagues. In 1977, soccer was the first code in Australia to adopt a national league and ever since its inception, the national soccer league has been the premier soccer competition in the country.

The world has seen the cream of Australian club soccer once already, when South Melbourne represented the Oceania region at the FIFA Club World Championships in Brazil in 2000. FIFA's premier world club competition is set to be staged again from 2005.

The national league and the development programs have combined to establish Australia as a major exporter of the world soccer stage – in fact, there are currently almost 150 Australians playing professionally overseas, many featuring in the top leagues throughout Europe, Asia and North America.

Fortunately we are now seeing the full cycle of the investment in Australian talent, with current and former national team players returning from distinguished careers overseas to complete their careers in the national soccer league. Several of these players have taken up coaching positions in Australia.

Soccer Australia – the governing body for the sport – has an overall responsibility to administer, develop and promote soccer in Australia through its state and territory membership.

Soccer Australia is specifically responsible for the:

- senior national team (Qantas Socceroos)
- under 23 national team (Qantas Under 23s)

MEN'S NATIONAL TEAMS

Women's soccer Janene Mar

The earliest recorded publicity of women's soccer in Australia was of a game in Brisbane in 1925 between the 'Reds' and the 'Blues' which attracted a crowd of some "10,000 enthusiastic spectators".

Further mention of women involved in soccer came in an article on the great depression of 1929-1930 published in the Sunday Mail (Brisbane) on 26 May 1974. It made the following mention of matches held in Lithgow (NSW):

At that time, three women's Soccer teams - Amotts, Zig-Zags and State Mine - played fiery matches before large crowds every Sunday afternoon during the winter. They played with all the vim and vigour of men, and on frequent occasions fought like them!

During the 1970s, women's soccer established itself as a formal competition sport across the nation. In 1974, the first National Championship was held, and during that same assembly, the Australian Women's Soccer Association was formed. Soccer Australia took women's soccer within its umbrella in mid-2002.

A number of factors have come together to bring about the boom the sport has experienced over the last decade - the advent of the Women's World Cup (and particularly the groundbreaking success of the 1999 event hosted by the USA), Olympic Games status, plus all the ingredients that make football 'the world game'. These days, women's football is considered the fastest growing female sport in Australia and across the globe.

The very best female players in the world can nowadays make football their career, and in 2003, Australia boasted players playing their trade in America's WUSA, the top professional league in the world.

THE PIONEERS

After many false hopes and postponements, the Australian team entered their first international event, the first World Women's Invitational Tournament in Taipei, Taiwan, in 1978. Australia was the only national team in the tournament as other twelve countries were represented by club or district teams.

Australia's squad for the tournament, chosen by coach Jim Selby, consisted mostly of players from NSW and WA.

In the first round of matches Australia was beaten out of sixth place only on goal difference. The Australians then came second in the second round for teams placed seventh to thirteenth. Ultimately Australia finished eighth in the tournament.

Australian Anna Senjuschenko (who tragically died in a car accident in 1979 aged 17) was voted a "star player" of the tournament by the media, while Connie Byrnes (Selby) was awarded "Miss Football" for Australia.

Australia's results of the 1978 World Women's Invitational Tournament in Taiwan: W1-0 v Austria, D1-1 v USA, L0-1 v Sweden, D0-0 v Denmark and W5-0 v Thailand.

Participation in the Taiwan tournament paved the way for Australia's first full 'A' international, against New Zealand in October 1979.

PLAYERS senior national team

THE PIONEERS

Many of the Australia's matches in the early years were not full 'A' internationals, as often other countries would enter top club, regional or other representative sides in international tournaments and tours, rather than a true national team.

This means that several of our past Australian team players, although they represented Australia, did not play any 'A' international matches. Nevertheless these players deserve just as much recognition as a player who played in an 'A' international. These players are: Connie Byrnes (Selby), Kim Dunlop, Tanya Dyer, Lyn Edwards, Barbara Kozak, Sharon Pearson, Anna Senjuschenko, Janice Stott, Theresa Varadi, Helen Watts and Monica Werner.

The very first Australian Women's Soccer Team which competed in the first World Women's Invitational Tournament in Taiwan in 1978 particularly deserve special mention for their historic achievement: Sandra Brentnall (WA), Connie Byrnes (Selby) captain (NSW), Julie Clayton (WA), Kim Coates (NSW), Julie Dolan (NSW), Cindy Heydon (NSW), Barbara Kozak (WA), Sharon Loveless (WA), Toni McMahon (NSW), Sue Monteath (Qld), Sharon Pearson (NSW), Judy Pettit (WA), Anna Senjuschenko (WA), Theresa Varadi (WA), Leigh Wardell (NSW) and Monica Werner (Vic). The coach was Jim Selby.

WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL PLAYER OF THE YEAR

The Women's International Player of the Year is awarded to the member of the Qantas Matildas deemed to have performed the best in international competition over the past year. The award is selected by the National Coach at the time.

Year	Winner
1998/99	Julie Murray
1999	Traci Bartlett
2000	Cheryl Salisbury
2001/02	Anissa Tann
2002/03	Joanne Peters

FIFA WOMEN'S WORLD CUP, USA 2003

2003 is the year of the fourth edition of the FIFA Women's World Cup, with Australia again to take its place amongst the sixteen finalist nations. It is Australia's third consecutive appearance in the finals tournament. A total of 99 nations (out of 113 countries who compete at the international level) competed in the 2003 Women's World Cup in its qualification stages.

Australia qualified for the World Cup by winning the Oceania qualifying tournament in Canberra in April 2003. Resounding wins over Samoa, Cook Islands and Papua New Guinea were followed by a tougher match against New Zealand. With goals by Joanne Peters in the 24th minute and Danielle Small in the 49th, Australia won 2-0 against the Kiwis to book its spot at the Cup.

USA – named as the new host nation after FIFA moved the event from original host China following the outbreak of the SARS virus – will stage the event, from September 20 to October 12.

Australia's team for USA 2003 sees just five survivors from the 1999 World Cup, two that played in the 1995 World Cup, and a total of seven from the 2000 Olympics. Captain Cheryl Salisbury leads by experience, the only member of the 20-strong side that will be competing in her third World Cup.

Defender Thea SLATYER (AIS/NSWIS) was forced to withdraw through injury, and was replaced by Karla Reuter. Caps and goals as at 10 September 2003.

Despite the team's overall lack of experience at level, the Qantas Matildas have set themselves the aim of becoming the first Australian side to win a match at a senior women's FIFA event.

National Coach Adrian Santrac, appointed in November 2001, also embarks on his first Women's World Cup campaign.

The final draw for the FIFA 2003 Women's World Cup, held on 17 July, produced the following groups:
Group A: USA, Sweden, Nigeria, DPR Korea
Group B: Norway, France, Brazil, Korea Republic
Group C: Germany, Canada, Japan, Argentina
Group D: China, Ghana, Australia, Russia

Australia has a relatively favourable draw, certainly compared to that of superstars USA and Norway, which will boost our confidence as we enter the final. FIFA launched official Women's Rankings for the first time in July 2003, with Australia ranked at 15, China was ranked 4, Russia 11, and Ghana 52.

In the two months prior to the World Cup, the Qantas Matildas were involved in a series of tough hit-outs against the full national teams of South Korea (D0-0), Japan (D0-0), China (L0-2 and L0-2), England (L0-1), Scotland (W1-0) and Canada (L0-1).

A WOMEN'S WORLD CUP HISTORY

FIFA Women's World Championship – China 1991. Australia did not qualify.

FIFA Women's World Cup – Sweden 1995. With berths to the Atlanta Olympics going to the top eight nations, it was extremely disappointing that Australia was drawn outside three world superpowers in the 'Group of Death'. Results: L0-5 v Denmark, L1-4 v China, L1-4 v USA. Australia did not get past the group stage and was placed 12th.

FIFA Women's World Cup – USA 1999 Groundbreaking event which brought international women's soccer to the mainstream attention of the American public. Attendance records reached new heights, and new standards set in organisation, facilities, media and corporate support of the game. Results: D1-3 v Ghana, L1-3 v Sweden, L1-3 v China. Australia did not get past the group stage and was placed 11th.

OLYMPIC GAMES HISTORY

Olympic Games – Atlanta 1996 Women's football made its debut at these Olympics, with the top eight nations from the 1995 World Cup competing. Australia unfortunately not amongst them. USA defeated China 2-1 in the final, played in front of 76,481 spectators – at the time, a record figure for any women's sporting event in the world.

Olympic Games – Sydney 2000 Australia qualified as host nation for their first Olympic Games, and was joined by the top seven-placed nations from the 1999 World Cup. Rank outsiders Australia narrowly missed a berth in the semi-finals after giving away a half-time lead against Brazil in the last of the group matches. Results: L0-3 v Germany (Canberra) D1-1 v Sweden (Sydney) L1-2 v Brazil (Sydney). Australia was placed seventh, the national team's best ever position in a world women's event. The final, played out at the Sydney Football Stadium, was won by Norway who defeated USA 3-2. Norway's winning goal was scored in extra-time after the scoreboard had read 2-2 at the end of normal time.

Olympic Games – Athens 2004

Australia will attempt to qualify for the 2004 Olympics by partaking in the OFC region qualifiers, scheduled for Vanuatu in March 2004 (OFC winners qualify).

FIFA UNDER 19 WOMEN'S WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP HISTORY

FIFA Under 19 Women's World Championship – Canada 2002 The establishment and success of the FIFA Under 19 Women's World Championship, first held in 2002, was a clear testament to the enormous global growth of women's football. Canada staged the inaugural event. The Qantas Young Matildas, despite limited international preparation, exceeded all expectations by reaching the quarter-finals where the team netted a golden goal in extra-time against Brazil. Results: W5-1 v Chinese Taipei (in Victoria), L0-4 v USA (Victoria), L0-0 v England (Victoria), L3-4 v Brazil – quarter final (Vancouver). Australia was placed fifth. Host nation Canada surprised many by making the final, although the USA were victorious in the decider 1-0.

The qualifying tournament for the next FIFA Under 19 Women's World Championship is scheduled for Papua New Guinea in May 2004.

HISTORY

Indoor soccer has been played in some sort of version dating back to the 1200's in England. The first known recorded game was in Canada in 1851. Like most sports, the game meandered on as a recreation activity until being officially recognised as a sport – which it was in 1931.

In that year a young schoolteacher in Montevideo, Uruguay, Juan Carlos Ceriani, devised and wrote the rules for a five-a-side indoor version of soccer for youth competition in YMCAs. There were two main reasons for his action. Firstly, the very first World Cup had just been played in the country and this had created a large amount of interest in soccer and secondly, Uruguay in 1931 had a long wet season which saw many soccer teams and players unable to take part in the regular outdoor game, and thus were looking for another way of playing their loved sport.

In 1958 the first international governing body, FIFUSA, was formed with a young Juao De Havelange (later to be the head of FIFA) the first president. In 1989 FIFA, assumed control of the sport and held the first FIFA Men's World Cup in Holland in 1989. This was followed by 1992 in Hong Kong, 1996 in Spain, 2000 in Guatemala with the next to be held in Taiwan in 2004.

The word 'futsal' is the international term used for the game, and is an abbreviation of 'FUTEBOL DE SALA'. It is derived from the Spanish or Portuguese word for "soccer", FUTbol or FUTebol, and the Portuguese or Spanish word for "room", SALa or SALa, giving 'football in a room'.

The game is frequently referred to as five-a-side football or soccer, indoor football or soccer or sala.

For youth and local club competition the game is played on a basketball or netball size court, usually 20 minutes each way run of the clock. At elite/ international level it is played on a 40 metre long by 20 metre wide court (similar to European Handball), and has two halves of 20 minutes. The goals are two metres high and three metres wide and the ball used is a size four that has a dead bounce, so that the ball does not bounce too high.

Once Ceriani got the ball rolling, futsal gained rapid popularity throughout South America, particularly in Brazil. The skill developed in this game is visible in the world-famous style the Brazilians display outdoors on the full-sized field. Pele, Zico, Socrates, Ronaldo and other Brazilian superstars started their careers playing futsal.

While Brazil continues to be the futsal hub of the world, the game is now played – under the aegis of FIFA – all over the world, from Europe to North and Central America and the Caribbean, South America, Africa, Asia and Oceania.

Futsal is pure football: pace, skill, teamwork and drama characterise the indoor game. FIFA is confident that with further refinement of the latter adaptations, futsal's popularity will continue to grow.

FIFA FUTSAL WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

In the 1980s FIFA took the logical step of establishing a World Championship for this five-a-side version of the game. Since those early days and the first Futsal World Championship in Holland in 1988, the game has gone from strength to strength, as the very successful fourth tournament in Guatemala in 2004 proved beyond all doubt.

The next FIFA Futsal World Championship held in 2004 in Chinese Taipei was introduced to Australia in 1972, at the time by YMCA by Mrs Dawn Gilligan. In 1988 the national body the Australian Futsal Federation was established to the then international body FIFUSA.

FIFA took control of the sport, the national body aligned itself with FIFA and Soccer Australia.

In 2001, after numerous approaches from the state and local bodies, Soccer Australia formed the National Futsal Commission and formally took over the direct management of the sport, with the futsal state bodies as members of the Commission.

The commission has five state members: New South Wales, Queensland, ACT, Victoria and South Australia, with Western Australia, Northern Territory and Tasmania expected to join in 2004.

In Australia there are around 140,000 people playing futsal competitively or as a recreation, with clubs from all parts of the country, from the south to Mareeba in the north and Perth in the west.

In the 2003 season there were approximately 10,000 registered players across the country.

The Queensland Futsal Association has the biggest membership in the world, the Queensland State Futsal Titles, with this year over 1000 teams expected to nominate.

Australia has qualified for every Men's World Cup since 1989 to the present, with the best performance at Hong Kong in 1992. This year the men's team will play its Oceania World Cup playoffs in Canberra.

In preparation for the Oceania qualifiers, the Australian futsal team played a three game test series against Japan in April 2003. The squad was: Angelo Konstantinou (ACT), Gavin O'Brien (NSW), Brett Hewitt (NSW), Simon Keith (NSW), Paul Lombardo (NSW), Scott Manson (ACT), Andrew Nolan (NSW), Damian Pilat (Qld), Ben Singleton (NSW), Adrian Vizzari (NSW), Lachlan Wright (NSW), Elliott Zwangobani (ACT).

The OFC World Futsal Qualifying Tournament is being held at the Australian Institute of Sport arena, from 20 to 25 October 2003.

The women's team is planning to tour Europe again in 2004.

For more information on futsal visit the Soccer Australia website www.socceraustralia.com.au, or the websites of the state bodies.

NEW ADELAIDE CLUB ANNOUNCED!

Friday 12 September 2003, the President of South Australia's new NSL entity Basil Scarsella AM announced details of the new club.

Following market research and overwhelming support received at the South Australian Soccer Federation (SASF) offices throughout early September 2003, the name of the club is Adelaide United.

On 12 September 2003 the club also released its logo – a strong, fresh logo relevant to the people of South Australia. The unique characteristics and lifestyle of the population in Adelaide is the inspiration behind the club's Adelaide United's new strip features South Australia's famous traditional tri-colours red, blue and gold, which will immediately create an affinity with the people of South Australia.

On September 12, Scarsella also announced the appointment of former Adelaide boy John Kosmina as inaugural Adelaide United coach.

Adelaide United's headquarters and administration is located at the SASF offices. Soccer Australia has granted SASF the NSL participation agreement license, and the SASF will work in conjunction with the Adelaide United Football Club Pty Ltd operations. A Management Committee headed by Scarsella was set up in September with administration to work in conjunction with the SASF, led by Adelaide United Project Manager Sam Ciccarello.

Meanwhile the club has launched attractive ticketing packages with adult match day tickets from $10 and season tickets available from $100.

Adelaide City (in NSL until 2003) and Adelaide United (formed 2003) are two distinct teams. However, considering the identical locality and home venue of the two clubs and the relative continuity of the playing squads, 'record at venue' for Adelaide City and a 'head to head' record against Adelaide City, is provided here.

BRISBANE BEFORE THE STRIKERS STRUCK

Before the formation of the Brisbane Strikers in 1991, Queensland had been represented by two other NSL teams—Brisbane City (1977-1986) and the Brisbane Lions (1977-1986, 1988). City and the Lions had mixed fortunes during their NSL existence. City's most successful season was in 1981 when—inspired by the goalscoring exploits of English import Paul Wilkinson—the club finished third in the 16 team league. The best league placing for the Lions was fourth position on the 1984 ladder (southern division)—the club went on to win the Qualifying Semi Final 4-2 over Brunswick before losing on penalties to Heidelberg in the Minor Semi Final.

Despite overall mediocre league form, both clubs enjoyed National Cup success. Brisbane City actually won the first two Cups—in 1977 and 1978, while Brisbane Lions won the National Cup in 1981.

NZL AND THE NSL—A LONG PARTNERSHIP

Before the Kingz joined the NSL in 1999, the influence of New Zealand football on the league was well-established. Over 50 players from NZ tasted NSL action before the Kingz came into being, including many ex-England and Scottish players who had migrated to the Shaky Isles before embarking on their NSL careers. Here is a list of players with New Zealand ties who played with NSL clubs apart from the Kingz.

Adelaide City (in NSL until 2003) and Adelaide United (formed 2003) are two distinct teams. However, considering the identical locality and home venue of the two clubs and the relative continuity of the playing squads, the 'record at venue' for Adelaide City, and a 'head to head' record against Adelaide City, is provided here.

NEWCASTLE'S NOTABLE NSL HISTORY

Newcastle United were formed in September 2000 and filled the void of the Newcastle Breakers who were the Newcastle representatives during the previous season.

United are the fourth NSL club to represent the Hunter region following Newcastle KB United (1978-1984), Newcastle Rosebud United (1984-1986) and the Breakers (1991-2000).

Newcastle KB United brought unprecedented home crowds and media attention when they commenced their NSL venture in 1978. The 18 367 crowd which saw their round 6 match in 1979 was a record non-finals NSL attendance which stood for over 20 years. However, the momentum did not hold and five matches into the 1984 season KB United ceased operations. The vacancy in the NSL was almost immediately taken by the Adamstown Rosebuds Soccer Club. However while the name and ownership of the club changed, the playing squad remained and the club carried on throughout the 1984 season. Remarkably considering the off-field turmoil Rosebud took won the 1984 National Cup Final with a 1-0 win over the Melbourne Knights at Olympic Park. The club was relegated after the 1986 season.

Reflecting the relative continuity of the Newcastle club throughout 1984, and that the change in ownership occurred part-way through the season, NSL records for KB United and Rosebud United are often combined.

The Breakers resurrected soccer in the Hunter region with reasonable crowds and an impressive self built home base—Breakers Stadium—in a NSL existence which lasted from October 1991 through to May 2000. The closest the Breakers got to major silverware was when they reached the Cup Final in 1995/96, losing 1-3 to South Melbourne at Melbourne's Bob Jane Stadium.

TOBIN THE TROOPER

Leading in to the 2003/04 season, the Northern Spirit's Alex Tobin holds the NSL player appearance record with a massive 516 games played since commencing his NSL career in 1984 with Adelaide City.

Tobin's games tally is a record unmatched in any Australian national footballing competition. It is a figure ahead of the AFL Australian Rules record holder Michael Tuck (426 games, 1972-1991) and the NRL Rugby League record holder Terry Lamb (349 games, 1980-1996).

Tobin also holds the record for most 'A' internationals played for Australia, with 87 'A' international matches played between 1988 and 1998, including qualifying matches for the 1994 and 1998 World Cups. Additionally he played 26 non-'A' internationals from 1988 to 1999 making a grand total of 113 Qantas Socceroo appearances from 1988 to 1999. He was captain of the national team from 1995 to 1999.

Tobin's NSL career started 13 May 1984 when he started for Adelaide City against South Melbourne at Middle Park. His record of 516 games stands well ahead of second placed most games played Sergio Melta (1977-1995) on 445 games.

Not surprisingly, Tobin holds several other NSL records, including:

most starting appearances (514 starting appearances, ahead of Melta with 428)
most wins by a player (232 wins, ahead of Paul Trimballi with 214 wins) most finals games (47 finals games, ahead of Paul Trimballi and Damian Mori, both with 38)
most finals series (13 finals series, ahead of Francis Awaritefe with 12)
most games played at a venue (174 at Hindmarsh Stadium, ahead of Steve Blair with 158 games at Middle Park) most different venues played at (53 venues, ahead of Robert Hooker with 47 venues)
most games played against a particular club (42 games against South Melbourne, ahead of Paul Trimballi with 40 games against Melbourne Knights)

Tobin has played against 33 different clubs, which is one less than the record number of clubs played against (this record is jointly held by Graham Arnold, Bob Catlin, Robbie Hooker and Robbie Slater who each played against 34 different clubs in their respective NSL careers).

Tobin attained three Championships—in 1986, 1991/92 and 1993/94. He appeared in two other Grand Finals—in 1992/93 and 1994/95.
He won two Marston Medals for Grand Final player of the match—in the 1991/92 and 1993/94 Grand Finals.

Remarkably Tobin has been sent off just once in his 20 year career—on 19 October 1999, for Adelaide City against the Newcastle Breakers.

PARRAMATTA STADIUM—ALREADY STEEPED IN NSL TRADITION

Parramatta Stadium, home of the Parramatta Power, was completed in 1986 as a replacement for Cumberland Oval, home of the Parramatta Eels Rugby League club. Since then, the venue has played host to some of the most important and enthralling encounters in the National Soccer League.

The first NSL match to take place at Parramatta Stadium was the 1986 Northern Division Grand Final when Olympic's Chris Kalantzis snatched an extra-time goal victory to give his team a 3-2 win over St George.

Two weeks later, in the second leg of the 1986 National Grand Final, a sensational NSL match took place when Olympic—up 1-0 after the first leg in Adelaide—went down 1-3 to give Adelaide City a 3-2 upset aggregate win.

The 1988 season climax was also played at Parramatta Stadium and was an encounter not forgotten by anyone who watched it. Western Sydney Neighbors Marconi and Sydney United were 1-all after 90 minutes and 2-all after 120 minutes, with Marconi taking out the match 5-4 on penalties.

Marconi made it back-to-back Championships at the venue in 1989 when Zlatko Nastevski displayed just why he was voted 1989 NSL Player of the Year. Nastevski scored the clincher in the 91st minute to give Marconi a 1-0 Grand Final win over Olympic, in front of a then record NSL crowd of 23387.

It was yet another Marconi-Olympic Grand Final in 1989/90 but this time it was Olympic's turn for honours. A new record NSL attendance of 26352 watched Olympic come away from Parramatta Stadium with a comprehensive 2-0 victory.

Marconi and Adelaide City played out the 1992/93 Grand Final at the venue in one of the least memorable deciders of the modern era. A rather controversial penalty separated the teams, Marconi winning 1-0 in a four encounter.

After dominating the league over the first 17 years, the New South Wales teams faded in the mid- to late-90s until the Wollongong Wolves took the competition by storm in 1999/00 and 2000/01. The 2000/01 Grand Final, the first to be played in Sydney for eight years, was a free-flowing and technically proficient match between the Wolves and South Melbourne, two lovely Wollongong goals giving the Wolves a 2-1 win at Parramatta Stadium.

DAMIAN MORI 209 NOT OUT - THE FULL BREAKDOWN

Damian Mori's tally of 209 NSL goals at the start of the 03/04 season is a record unlikely to be surpassed for many years—if ever. Currently Mori is more than 70 goals ahead of 2nd placed leading scorer Rod Brown (137 goals).

Adelaide City (in NSL until 2003) and Adelaide United (formed 2003) are two distinct teams. However, considering the identical locality and home venue of the two clubs and the relative continuity of the playing squads, the 'record at venue' for Adelaide City, and a 'head to head' record against Adelaide City, is provided here.

FINALS

From the commencement of the national league in 1977 until 1983, and again in 1987, the NSL Champion team was considered to be the team which finished the regular season at the top of the ladder: the 'first-past-the-post' system.

In 1978, 1979, 1980, 1982 and 1987 the top four or five placed teams on the final ladder competed in a 'post-season play-off' series. But with no incentive of playing for Championship honours, and combined with the 'hangover effect' for the team which had already won the Championship by finishing first on the ladder, these matches were of less significance. Consequently, these matches are considered as separate competitions and are generally disregarded in official NSL statistics such as player appearances and club records.

With a restructure of the national league in 1984 came the adoption of the legitimate finals system. From the 1984 season onwards, except for 1987, the winner of the finals series was considered the Champions – in line with the other major Australian sporting leagues. Official NSL records and statistics incorporate these finals matches.

From 1984 until 1991/92, the 'McIntyre' final five system – as used in the other major footballing leagues in Australia at the time – applied. From 1992/93 until 2001/02, a final six system devised for the NSL applied. In 2002/03 a 'Championship Series' applied. In 2003/04 the league reverts to the final six system.

Note that in 1984, 1985 and 1986, the national league was split into two conferences, based on a geographic breakdown of teams. The Grand Final winners of each conference played off, over two legs, for the national Championship in the national Grand Final. Some records treat these two-legged Grand Finals as one match.

A full listing of NSL finals matches, including full match details for all Grand Finals, is provided in the 'NSL History' section of the 2003/04 NSL Season Guide.

NSL history

THE NSL DREAM by Ted Simmons

The formation of a national soccer competition was always a dream among the early pioneers of the world code in Australia.

And they would have been delighted to find that the world game became the first football code in Australia to bring five States or Territories together under the one roof.

Club formation in the late 1800s and the spread of the game across boundaries led to rivalry as each State sought to be dominant.

After the Second World War, the influx of migrants, many with football as their major passion, strengthened the game and increased the desire to be best.

With the increase in interest and support, it was natural that differences of opinion and power-seeking would surface with their resultant problems.

The major area of dispute was the clubs based on ethnic membership and support battling against the old-established, mostly Anglo-Saxon clubs for recognition and promotion.

Sports papers had been speculating for some time on whether a national league should be formed and how it would operate.

Temper flared when ethnic-based clubs in Sydney were denied promotion after winning competitions with the NSW Association preferring to stay unchanged.

The turning point occurred on January 5, 1957 when a meeting in Sydney, signed by 28 delegates, expressed its dissatisfaction with the progress of soccer in New South Wales under the NSW Association administration.

In a special resolution, the meeting stated: "We, the undersigned, as individuals actively associated and concerned with the code, convinced that it is no longer practical, desirable or fruitful to continue to expend our time, ideas and efforts under the present State administration, do hereby make ourselves available and pledge ourselves to the immediate formation of a Provisional Committee to organise the New South Wales Federation of Soccer Clubs." It was the first positive step towards the disbanding of the old State Association, the Australian Association and the creation of State Federations and the Australian Soccer Federation (ASF).

During the ensuing years, the various Federations introduced a promotion and relegation policy for their senior competition as well as State Cup competitions.

But the idea of a national league was always in the background. In July 1964, the weekly soccer paper Soccer World ran a front page heading "NSL to start in 1965" as debate continued over a national competition.

On April 5, 1975, a meeting was held at St George Soccer House in the Sydney suburb of Mortdale, convened by Alex Pongrass (St George-Budapest) and Frank Lowy (Hakoah club).

Present were delegates from the clubs of St George-Budapest, Hakoah, Western Suburbs, APIA and Marconi (all from Sydney), Adamstown (Newcastle), Lions (Brisbane) and Hellas and Juventus (Adelaide).

It was firmly pointed out that the meeting was not a "breakaway" or an attempt to create a new State organisation.

Chairman Pongrass, in welcoming the delegates, said there had been talk about a national league for some years, often vaguely and sometimes in very obscure terms.

"There have been a few genuine but feeble attempts to create such a super league and, for a variety of reasons, all of them have failed," he said.

"I believe the time has come to act and we will act. Not MAY but WILL.

Some of us have remained convinced that only such a league, such a radical departure can save soccer from its continuing agony and can make it a truly national and vital sport in Australia as it is in over 100 countries of the world.

"It also needs to be stressed that this venture is not aimed against anybody, clubs, States or individuals but for soccer. In a few weeks we will convene another, more formal meeting and it will be then and there that the clubs involved will formalise the national soccer league."

The meeting then proceeded to discuss and debate, without restrictive formality, points of interest on the need for a national league with the minutes recorded by journalist Andrew Dettre.

Among the excerpts were the following: "I don't think we should determine now the number of teams in a national soccer league. It could be 10 or 12 teams. Maybe a ceiling of 12 should be accepted." (Lowy).

"It is obvious the ASF cannot form a national league. However, when formed this league should be affiliated with the ASF and its Articles of Association should be acceptable to all Federations." (Marconi).

"Soccer standards can only be raised through an effort like the NSL. Eventually our World Cup and Olympic Games teams would also benefit from this. We would prefer the adoption of new names and the dropping of the ethnic ones." (Hakoah).

St George, Hakoah and Brisbane Lions committed themselves firmly to an NSL and the other six, because of a need to report back to their respective boards, were given until April 14 to accept in writing.

All representatives then signed a resolution of interest on the formation of a national league which read:

We, the undersigned clubs, hereby declare our firm intention of establishing a National Soccer League within the shortest possible time. Today's meeting has expressed its unanimous wish to start such a league in 1976, if possible. We undertake to confirm this intention of ours in writing by April 14.

Hakoah, St George, Marconi, APIA and Western Suburbs each paid the joining fee of $5,000 which would be kept in a trust account to pay for the running costs to set up the competition. Juventus and Hellas from Adelaide also sent their cheques.

However, the Victorian clubs did not pay, some claiming the NSL was a "rebel" body but the organisers still reserved four spots for Melbourne clubs in a proposed initial 12-team competition.

The historic soccer meeting started that day at 11 am and finished harmoniously at 3.15 pm to begin a new chapter in the history of the sport in Australia.

On Monday April 21, another meeting was held, this time at the Hakoah Soccer club in Sydney, with five delegates in attendance and Frank Lowy as chairman.

The April 21 meeting was held to draw up conditions of entry for a national league of at least 12 teams to commence in 1976 with no promotion or relegation until 1978. The meeting also discussed club names, referees, match days, representative games, transfers, soccer pools, ethics, administration costs, income and co-operation with State bodies.

A list of proposals was also submitted to the Australian Soccer Federation on April 24 with a view to affiliation with the ASF.

Among the ideas canvassed were to contact a hotel chain for a possible deal when overnight stay is unavoidable, negotiate with TV stations for possible packaging of edited highlights, contact overseas airlines for possible post-season international tours, search for sponsors and consider despatching an executive secretary to Frankfurt to study how the German Bundesliga was established and how it operates.

The club approach was not ignored with suggestions a detailed circular/questionnaire be sent to all clubs, visits to all clubs especially interstate, ground arrangements, negotiate directly with state federations about match dates, linkup between NSL and local competitions and supply of referees.

Friday May 2 was the date for the next meeting which was held at the ASF offices in Clarence Street, Sydney by members of the national league sub-committee chaired by ASF president Sir Arthur George.

The ASF sub-committee consisted of Sir Arthur George, Tony Kovacs (Victoria), Jim Connell (South Australia), Ian Brusasco (Queensland), Tom Grimson (NSW), Alex Pongrass (NSW) and Frank Lowy (NSW).

National League delegates met at the St George club on July 17 to hear reports, a letter from the ASF that it was prepared to operate a national league within its own structure to commence if possible in March 1976, and discussions on preparation for a Constitution and/or Memorandum of Articles of Association with a draft to be submitted by September 15, 1975.

Problems still plagued the program, especially from Victoria.

The Victorian State League chairman, Sam Papasavas, announced his committee had passed a resolution deciding it would not be part of any currently proposed national league.

According to Papasavas, the reason was that there were no firm proposals about sponsorship and no guarantee about the financial success of the proposed venture.

He said talks between the ASF sub-committee and its Victorian counterpart had done nothing to change the Victorian point of view.

In August, the Victorian Soccer Federation (VSF) decided to invite clubs from Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide to Melbourne to discuss the league proposals.

The VSF said it was in favour of the new league but only on terms and conditions acceptable to Victoria.

At that time, five Victorian clubs - South Melbourne Hellas, Footscray JUST, Juventus, George Cross and Fitzroy Alexander had expressed interest in a national league but had refused to come forward for fear of reprisals from other State League clubs.

It was taking longer than expected to put the structure in place, draw up rules and regulations and determine the clubs to take part in the inaugural year

However, in April 1976, the ASF general secretary Brian Le Fevre, issued a press release that the National Soccer League would definitely commence in 1977.

The ASF had formally ratified the national league concept and authorised the special sub-committee to carry the plan through to fruition.

Nine firm applications had been received from St George, Hakoah, Marconi, Western Suburbs and Pan Hellenic (NSW), Lions and Brisbane City (Queensland), and Adelaide City and West Adelaide (South Australia).

The League committee agreed to reserve three places for late applications and it was anticipated the final composition of the league would be 12 teams.

Western Australia, Newcastle and Wollongong were also making bids. Perth announced it would be willing to field a composite team and already had guarantees of $50,000 to support their bid.

Mr Le Fevre said that the time for talks and no action was over.

The nine clubs, having full ASF sanction, were determined to go ahead in the face of spiralling costs and all were determined to succeed and produce a formula for a viable national competition.

In early June, Mooroolbark broke the Victorian deadlock with the first application from Melbourne. Cardiff (Newcastle), Bankstown and Sutherland (Sydney) and Canberra City were also applicants for membership.

There was a further flurry among prospective clubs with late applications from composite teams Adelaide United and Brisbane United.

Pressure on clubs was increased when the ASF announced that successful applicants for participation in the 1977 competition would be decided on June 25, 1976.

It also said the final six applicants for the position of NSL manager would be interviewed shortly, leading to an appointment. The committee set the date of Saturday, July 10 for the decision on the NSL inaugural teams and the manager.

After months of deliberation, consultation and meetings, the makeup of the first national football league in Australia was announced as a 14-team competition with five teams from Sydney, four from Melbourne, two each from Adelaide and Brisbane and one from Canberra.

John Frank was named as the League general manager.

The announcement was immediately followed by a meeting on July 23 of representatives of the 14 clubs to hammer out a national league program with the ASF and Frank also present.

It would be the task of a selected group of a dozen or more over the next few months to work behind the scenes laying down an operational manual for the league.

They were given the responsibility of trying to solve ground problems, match days, referees, relations with State Federations, transfers and regulations, rules and other administrative problems.

All participating clubs had paid the required $3,000 entry fee, giving the league a starting financial base of $49,000. Members of the committee were also told that negotiations for a sponsor would conclude shortly.

With enthusiastic support, the League organisers and the ASF completed a sponsorship arrangement with the electrical giant Philips as the major sponsor and obtained further deals for television with Channel 0-10 TV and flying arrangements with TAA Airlines.

On the weekend of 2-3 April 1977 the competition, to be known as the Philips Soccer League, began with 14 teams: Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs, St George, Marconi, Sydney Olympic (formerly Pan Hellenic), Western Suburbs (Sydney), Canberra City (ACT), Brisbane City, Brisbane Lions (Queensland), Adelaide City, West Adelaide (South Australia), and Fitzroy United, Footscray JUST, Mooroolbark and South Melbourne Hellas from Victoria.

And so the dream had become reality.

John Frank quickly settled into his role as manager of the NSL and Alex Pongrass was elected chairman of the Council of Club. The League committee consisted of delegates from NSW, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland and the ACT with Sir Arthur George as chairman and a five-member committee of Pongrass, Frank Lowy, Sam Papasavas, John Frank and Brian Le Fevre.

A total of 300 players from 14 teams took part in the first year in 1977 with Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs the inaugural champion on a first-past-the-post system on goal difference from Marconi, both with 37 points, followed by Fitzroy (32 points) and Adelaide City (31).

Eastern Suburbs clinched the championship in the final round of 26 matches when it battled to a 0-0 draw against Sydney Olympic to hold a three goals better difference over Marconi.

West Adelaide snared the first record of the league when striker John Kosmina scored the first goal for the new competition. Kosmina later became Australian captain and the first player to score 100 NSL goals.

However, he couldn't maintain his scoring form in the inaugural season and it was John 'Dixie' Deans (Adelaide City) who topped the scoring list with 16 goals ahead of Terry Smith (Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs) with 14, and Kosmina and Murray Barnes (Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs) level on 12.

Adelaide City, who had the second highest total of goals with 50 behind Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs' 52, also had the distinction of posting the biggest win when they defeated Mooroolbark 10-3 – the only team to reach double figures in a league match. Deans scored four goals in the match.

One of the biggest surprises for the first two seasons was the absence of top NSW club APIA, which had won a string of State titles during the preceding 20 years and had huge spectator support. However, they were successful in joining the NSL in 1979 after merging with Western Suburbs.

The starting season was to see the beginning of a continuing debate on whether clubs should use special names and/or logos, such as Lions, Eagles, Rams etc, similar to the American publicity system.

In addition, the league staged a knockout national cup competition with Brisbane City the inaugural champion after being held to a 1-1 draw by Marconi in the final and then winning 5-3 on penalties at Perry Park in Brisbane in front of a crowd of 8,658. The 1977 knockout cup was conducted immediately following the conclusion of the League season.

To add to the glamour of the opening year, a supportive media introduced an awards system. The 1977 Player of the Year Award was won by Marconi's Jimmy Rooney, Under 21 Player of the Year to Rale Rasic (Marconi). A Referee's Award was included in 1978, won by Peter Rampley.

The end of the 1978 brought another switch when organisers introduced a top four finals elimination series. The major semi-final, between first and second, promoted the winner direct to a grand final and the loser matched against the winner of the minor semi-final (third against fourth) to fill the remaining place.

West Adelaide topped the 1978 table to take out the championship, but was eliminated in the post-season series preliminary final by Marconi. In the grand final, Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs proved too strong in claiming its second success with a 4-2 win over Marconi. It was the last time Hakoah-Eastern Suburbs used that name, changing to Sydney City in the off-season.

Another year, another change as the organisers sought to find a formula acceptable to all. For 1979, the top four series was played under a round-robin format with the top two qualifying for the grand final. Marconi was the champion club by four points from Heidelberg and once again, Sydney City came out on top in the post-season series, beating Brisbane City 2-1 on aggregate.

It was the start of a golden era for Sydney City who won the league championship in 1980, 1981 and 1982 to become the only team to win three successive titles.

And the changes continued. 1980 saw a return to the original top four elimination finals system, a final series was not played in 1981 (due to a busy international program), back again in 1982 and missing again in 1983.

1984 saw the national league's biggest change with the introduction of a two conference format, each with a top five finals series. Critically, the champion team was now determined by the finals system.

Under the 1984 scheme, the clubs were increased to 24 and divided into an "Australian" and a "National" Conference, with several inter- and intra-conference rounds. The finals series winners of each conference met in national Grand Final to determine the champion. The dual-conference format was simplified in 1985 and completely scrapped at the end of the 1986 season.

Back to a single-conference format in 1987, the top five series continued until the 1992/93 season when it was increased to a top six. In 2002/03 the league experimented with a 'Championship Series' where the top two from the round-robin series met in the grand final – but this format lasted one season.

The 1989 season was the last to be played as a winter sport. After much discussion, the NSL executive decided to switch to a summer competition to make better use of grounds, the warmer weather, night matches and an attempt to attract families to the games. It was a move made necessary because of the struggle to get media space against the other football codes, to use improved playing surfaces and to bring Australia into line with overseas competitions.

The seasonal move appeared to pay off, with the average crowd at NSL matches increasing from 3000 in the three seasons before the switch, to 3700 in the three seasons after. By the end of the 1990s the league's average crowd was approaching 6000.

Since its inception, the NSL has had stable management.

The general managers have been: John Frank (1977–1980), Paul Kemp (1981–1982), Stefan Kamasz (1983–1988, 1996–) and Peter Russell (1989–1996).

The chairmen have been: Alex Pongrass (1977), Sam Papasavas (1978–1979, 1982–1993), Max Talbot (1980), Frank Lowy (1981), Tony Labbozzetta (1994–1995, 1999–2000), George Vasilopoulos (1996), Fred Lenzi (1997–1998) and Remo Nogarotto (2001–).

Despite criticism, repeated forecasts of failure and minimum media support, the league has survived its first quarter century and continues to defy its detractors.

Born in argument and hope, the National Soccer League has moved into its second quarter century as the nation's premier soccer competition and the learning ground for future candidates for the Qantas Socceroos.

STATISTICAL CLARIFICATION

The following points refer to current and historical records as presented in this Season Guide
Club and venue names. For consistency and simplicity, each club is generally referred to only by its current or, for defunct clubs, most recognised name. Similarly, each venue is generally listed by its name as at the end of the 2002/03 NSL season or when it ceased to exist. Abbreviations are sometimes used—refer pg 147 for full club and pg 164 for full venue names. Since the 2002/03 NSL Season Guide, Sydney Olympic (formerly referred to as Olympic Sharks), West Adelaide (Adelaide Sharks), APIA Leichhardt (Leichhardt), Morwell Falcons (Eastern Pride) and Wollongong United (Illawarra Lions) have had their names reverted.

Listing of equivalent records. Where records of the exact same level have occurred but space does not permit the inclusion of all equal records in this Guide, the most recently occurring instance/s is/are generally listed.

Ranking wins and losses. When two wins are of equal margins, the best win is that win with the highest goals scored. This reflects that on a league ladder, 'goals for' is taken into account when clubs are level on points and goal difference. Similarly a worse loss when margins are equal is that loss with the lowest goals scored.

Clean sheet. Obtained when a goalkeeper who plays an entire match does not concede a goal for the entire match.

Fastest and quickest. In this Guide 'fastest' refers to shortest time between start and end of feat and 'quickest' refers to shortest time since beginning of play and end of feat. For example a hat-trick scored by a player (who started the match) in the 10th, 15th and 20th minutes is regarded as being of 10 minutes duration in the 'fastest' sense, and of 20 minutes duration in the 'quickest' sense.

Finals. Records generally incorporate finals matches except where otherwise stated (refer pg 166).

Forfeits. For consistency, forfeited matches are generally included in club's records (but not in player/coach records).

Revised scorelines. All match results changed by the NSL tribunal are recorded by the revised scoreline.

Newcastle. The treatment of NSL records relating to all Newcastle clubs is explained on pg 89.

NATIONAL CUP

In conjunction with each of the first 21 seasons of the NSL, a national knock-out cup competition was played by NSL clubs and, in some seasons, non-NSL clubs.

Each National Cup competition generally consisted of that teams from that season's NSL competition – however in 1978, 1979, 1980, 1981, 1985, 1986, 1994/95 and 1996/97, various other clubs (mostly state league clubs) participated. In 1996/97, new NSL club Perth Glory did not contest the Cup.
